Message from the President

Dear SFA Members,

Things are gearing up for our Annual Meeting in Tallahassee and I am looking forward to meeting all of you who will be attending. The Local Arrangements Committee has started the week on Tuesday May 8 with two preconference workshops that bring talented instructors from both the Society of American Archivists and LYRASIS to Florida. Wednesday and Thursday will be chock-full of sessions presented by our members sharing their experiences. On Thursday, we can look forward to hearing FSU History Professor Dr. Jennifer Koslow’s keynote address during our luncheon and there are receptions scheduled for each evening for networking and socializing. To finish the week we have the option of four walking tours to let us see some of the archival collections in Tallahassee. All in all, an excellent way to celebrate SFA’s 35th anniversary. For more information about the Annual Meeting, please check out the SFA website (http://www.florida-archivists.org/Annual-Meeting-2018).

Florida History Day 2018 will be in Tallahassee the same week as our Annual Meeting (May 6 – 8). Organized by the Museum of Florida History, this year’s theme is Conflict and Compromise in History. Once again, SFA will be sponsoring the Best Use of Primary Sources Award (both in the junior and senior divisions). We are planning to have an SFA representative attend the Awards Ceremony at the Donald L. Tucker Civic Center on May 8 to present our sponsored awards to the winners.

Susan Swiatosz
SFA President

The Lee Family Citrus Labels
by Elizabeth Lee Barron & Gerrianne Schaad, Archivist, Florida Southern College

What started out as a personal project ended up as an exhibit at the McKay Archives entitled, The Lee Family Citrus Labels. Elizabeth Lee Barron, the great-granddaughter of Dempsey Cowan Lee and Josephine Claire Edwards, wanted to see how many citrus labels she could find that were related to the descendants of her great-grandparents. Using the McKay Archives Florida Citrus Archive collection, the University of Florida’s Jerry Chicone, Jr. Citrus Crate Label collection and the Museum of Florida History’s Florida Citrus Labels 1920s -1960s collection she was able to locate over 50 labels associated with various family enterprises.

Dempsey Cowan (D.C.) Lee (1863-1929) was born in Gates County, North Carolina. Early in life he moved to South Georgia where he had an active career in the Naval stores business for over 30 years in both Georgia and Alabama.

Key Acquisitions for Student Projects at UWF Archives and West Florida History Center

Dean DeBolt, University of West Florida Archives and West Florida History Center, reports that among their acquisitions and gifts are two recent different collections. They would make great student projects as your students can be taught how to scan photographs, especially negatives; how to analyze a collection to get details of ownership, dates, and identification; how to create an inventory of the collection as well as describe it for other researchers. Within each collection are additional topical ideas that could result in analytical projects. For example, the Wiemann Papers have some photographs of the Dewey Memorial Arch; turns out this was a temporary ‘architectural’ arch erected in New York to commemorate Admiral Dewey’s Manila campaign. The history of that monument, background for doing it, what happened to it, were there letters to the editor praising or complaining about it—all could be the subject of just one study.

Archives staff would be glad to work with you or your students in helping them take on a project that combines learning through analytical work as well as learning some basic archives techniques and operations, if you could incorporate these into coursework for credit.

Photographs, 1920s. Six Eastman Kodak books capable of storing 100 4x5 negatives (most full), covering scenes in and around Pensacola and Escambia County, 1920s. Each storage booklet has a descriptive page in the front identifying each photograph.

Best guess: An individual or company who repaired roads, bridges, or worked on them. Includes family photos as well. When that is determined, we will name the collection. Other topical paths: history of roads; history of bridges.

Albert E. Wiemann Papers

Wiemann was an engineer who lived in Pensacola. Family photograph scrapbooks covering 1919-1923, identified; includes Long Island, Boston, trips to Atlantic City; City College of New York, etc. With additional photographs 1899-1910 including the Dewey Memorial Arch, return of Navy from World War I, etc. Also a genealogical album covering German family from 1865 through 1900s. Photographs will need to inventoried, sorted, researched (e.g. what was the Dewey Arch), cataloged, as well as scanning.

1116 Editions of Florida International University Student Newspapers Available

Beginning in 2018, the Special Collections and University Archives (SPCUA) Department began the task of scanning and uploading the earliest editions of the FIU student newspaper for online access (current issues of FIU’s student newspaper, Panther Press, have been available online since 2014). Under the supervision of Jill Krefft, Institutional Repository Coordinator and Rhia Rae, Digital Archivist, Student Media provided the present-day digital newspaper files for processing while SPCUA library staff scanned, processed, and uploaded the historical issues. Special thanks go to FIU freshman Rosmely Perez for diligently scanning the historical newspaper issues.

The student newspaper provides a wealth of information on the formation of the university, the history of FIU, sports, and student life. The newspaper has gone through several name changes, discontinuations, and at one time two student newspapers were published concurrently. FIU’s first student paper was the 4-page newsletter, Action, published on November 17, 1972. Now available online are 1116 issues including Panther Press, The Beacon, The Action, The Good Times, The International, and The Sentinel at FIU Digital Commons (http://digitalcommons.fiu.edu/student_newspaper/).

Original copies of the student newspaper are available in the Special Collections and University Archives Department in the Green Library at MMC.

For more information on the history of the student newspaper visit https://news.fiu.edu/2015/10/5050-the-history-of-fius-student-newspapers/92890

Thank you Rhia Rae, for this update

ALI 18 Cohort Admitted One of Our Own!

9:30—5:00 Optional Pre-Conference Workshops @Strozier Library, FSU (pre-registration is required; additional cost, separate from conference fee)

"Building Advocacy and Support for Digital Archives #1841 [DAS]"
Fynnette L. Eaton (SAA)

Are you ready to build a digital archives program? This course will provide the core components necessary to gather support, engage stakeholders, and enact the change necessary to be able to handle digital archives in your institution. Participants will learn techniques for engaging collection donors and technology staff in order to effectively collect and manage born-digital materials.

Attendance is limited to 20 participants. For more information and to register, visit the event page.

"Disaster Preparedness and Response Workshop"
Annie Peterson (Lyrasis)

This full-day workshop will cover disaster preparedness and response for cultural heritage collections. Participants will learn about the basic elements of a disaster plan and how to create or update a plan for their organization. Planning exercises will help institutions prioritize next steps for creating or updating their plans. Risk assessment will be discussed and covered in an exercise, so participants can gain skills to assess and mitigate risks at their own institution. The workshop will include a hands-on portion where participants will stabilize wet collections materials, including books, papers, and audiovisual materials, and actively learn about appropriate drying methods to effectively salvage materials.

Attendance is limited to 25 participants. For more information and to register, visit the event page.

Professional Practice Sessions

10:00—3:00 Walking sessions exploring professional practice in action by visiting cultural heritage institutions in and around Tallahassee.

Locations include: The Grove Museum, The Florida State Library and Archives and The Florida State Archeological Research and Conservation Laboratory, Mission San Luis walking tour and visit to its Bureau of Archaeological Research laboratory, and The Riley House Museum.

These sessions are for conference attendees only

Conference goers are offered four sessions on Friday, two in the morning and two in the afternoon. Space is limited for each session, so please sign up in advance at the Sign-Up Google Doc. Feel free to add your name to sessions at or over capacity; all additional names will be added to a waiting list, and the Annual Meeting Committee will consider adding sessions for popular locations. If you have questions or concerns about these sessions, please email societyofflarchivists@gmail.com.

For more information about these sessions, including walking and driving times to the locations, see the Walking Sessions page. Attendees are responsible for their own transportation to these locations.

10:00—12:00 Grove Museum, 902 N. Monroe St., Tallahassee, Florida, 32303

The Call-Collins House at The Grove is one of the best-preserved examples of antebellum Greek Revival architecture in Florida. The house and grounds underwent an extensive private residence to public museum conversion under the leadership of the Florida Department of State and the site is now open to the public as The Grove Museum. Grove staff will lead a tour of the Call-Collins House and field questions about professional practice at the Grove Museum.

10:00—12:00 Bureau of Archaeological Research Collections and Conservation Laboratory and Mission San Luis, 2100 W Tennessee St, Tallahassee, FL 32304

The Collections and Conservation Laboratory section of the Florida Bureau of Archaeological Research (BAR) is responsible for the preservation and curation of well over half a million artifacts which have been recovered from state-owned or state-managed lands. BAR staff will lead the session in exploring their holdings and facilities at the Laboratory.

This session also includes a self-guided tour of the grounds of Mission San Luis, the only reconstructed Spanish mission in Florida. As a living history museum it is devoted to sharing the stories of its former Apalachee and Spanish residents. Knowledge of life at San Luis over three centuries ago comes from intensive archaeological and historical research—the site is the most thoroughly investigated mission in the southeastern United States.

1:30—3:00 State Archives, State Library, and Bureau of Archaeological Research Lab, R.A. Gray Building, 500 South Bronough Street, Tallahassee, FL 32399-0250

This session will introduce participants to three neighboring units of the Florida Department of State that collect, preserve, and provide access to information and artifacts relevant to the study of Florida history.

1:30—2:30 Riley Center & Museum, 419 E. Jefferson Street, Tallahassee, Florida, 32301

The John G. Riley House is a 126-year old structure that celebrates one of Tallahassee’s most influential men. As principal of the first public high school for blacks, Secretary of the Florida NAACP, member of the Negro Business League, and Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Masons, Riley made an impact on the Tallahassee community. This visit to the historic Riley house offers the chance to experience the rich cultural heritage of African Americans in the south during the Reconstruction era.

A Special Thank You

To Our Sponsors
Greetings SFA! It’s been a pleasure to serve the last two years as your Treasurer. I’ve spoken to many of you over the phone, processed your credit card payments, deposited your checks, issued refunds and reimbursements, and tracked the SFA finances. As Treasurer I am responsible for all financial transactions. These include paying registration and filing fees with State and Federal governments, paying dues for our P. O. box and website host, writing checks for the annual meeting, and most recently, subsidizing the Lyrasis Disaster Recovery workshop at this year’s conference. I’m pleased to report that the Society of Florid Archivists is in excellent financial health, so much so that we are in the position to spend money to offer more programming and support for our members. If you have suggestions for workshops or other professional development opportunities relevant to the interests of SFA members, please reach out to me or another Board of Director’s member. We want to make sure that we are spending money on activities that benefit us all.

Please note the following Treasurer’s report includes income and expenses from the 2017 Annual Meeting, and income only from the 2018 Annual Meeting.

He became interested in the citrus fruit industry and relocated to Lake Thonotosassa near Tampa in the early 1900’s.

Lee married Josephine Claire Edwards, of Warren County, Georgia, on March 30, 1890. They had six children: William Edwards, Lamarcus Walthugh, twin daughters Louise and Rosemary (who married brothers Jack and Frederick Johnston), Grace Gertrude and Nell. Josephine’s brother Lamarcus C. Edwards was also a partner with D.C. in the lumber business. Both men began purchasing grove land near Thonotosassa, Florida and Lamarcus moved there in 1910, where the two established a packing company. Lamarcus Edwards also became a member of the Florida Citrus Exchange, for which he served a short term as president.

The brothers-in-law formed the partnership of Lee & Edwards. They had groves in Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Polk and Pinellas counties. They owned and operated their own packing houses separately as well as together. The brothers-in-law became involved with the Pasco Packing Association, which Edwards began working for in 1919. In 1935, he joined with four others to turn the Pasco Packing Association into the Pasco Packing Company (now known as Lykes-Pasco). Lykes-Pasco became one of the largest citrus processing operations in the world. D.C. Lee was also a senior member of the Hawes-Lee Fruit Company in Tampa.

Both Lee and Edwards utilized Citrus Crate Labels as a marketing tool. Crate labels were used primarily from the 1920s-1950s.

Growers used themes that were pertinent to them. Popular themes ranged from children to animals, and pictures of fruit. Lee and Edwards created numerous labels, though only 50 can be found now. Southern Belle and Split Silk were the two most famous labels for their oranges, and the companies shipped to all parts of the United States, Canada and Cuba.

The family is still involved in the citrus industry. Dempsey Cowan Lee II, great-grandson of D.C. Lee, owns Florida Citrus Country in Clearwater and ships fruit nationwide.

The exhibit will be on display through May in the McKay Archives, Florida Southern College.

The year has passed quickly and I find myself writing my last letter to you as President. I want to thank all the talented and smart members who have given their time to volunteer. Our board and committees have worked hard to keep you informed about local and statewide activities and I could not have wished to work with a better group of people. We will be welcoming our new Executive Board members in Tallahassee at the Annual Business Meeting. Please remember to vote by May 8. If you did not receive a ballot, please contact Erin Mahaney (emahaney@fit.edu).
Central Florida Archivists visit St. Leo University

Special thanks to Carol Moon and Doris Vankampen, for arranging a delightful gathering and most generous lunch at the Abbey Tavern and a terrific tour and history of St. Leo’s University and its library and archives. We strolled to the lovely grotto and learned some fascinating bits of St. Leo’s history. We even learned something about poetry!

Welcome Bart Delcamp from Lake Wales to SFA! And thanks to Kay Garsnett coming all the way from Sarasota. Bud Cunnally and Sandy joined us again from the Orlando History Center and left before we thought to take a picture. Thanks to St. Leo librarians Renee Gould and Janet Franks for joining us for lunch. And thanks to all for participating in this latest of CFA outings to get better acquainted with our archivist colleagues in the central part of FL and visiting their archives.
